WHY “THE CONTEMPORARY MUSIC APPROACH”?

1. It changes behavior by providing multi-sensory stimulation.
2. Interest and energy levels naturally rise.
3. The performance of music usually brings a sense of feelings of accomplishment and mastery.
4. Music has order and predictability, and both are essential for competence.
5. Music is the essence of humanness, not only because man creates it, but also he creates his relationship to it.
6. Music permits and encourages each person to participate in his/her growth and change.
7. Music by its very nature draws people together for the purpose of intimate yet ordered function.
8. It unifies the group for a common action and a common goal.
9. Group music leads to desirable ends with a minimum of verbal commands.
10. It provides for immediate gratification.
11. It eliminates competition, encouraging even the reluctant learners to participate.
12. It is a source of entertainment and recreation in an otherwise stringent environment.

Via Music Communications (since 1986)

www.ViaMusicCommunications.com